To date, there has been significant discourse on the devastation to grants, dollars, and institutions we are experiencing. Here, we center people instead – the communities who stand to suffer the harshest consequences of these actions. Here, we remind the world that the first letter in HIV stands for human.

- We demand substantive, meaningful inclusion of community in every aspect of HIV research, from protocol development to study implementation to the dissemination of clinical trial results.
- We demand diversity, equity, and inclusion amongst the scientific teams conducting HIV research.
- We demand diversity, equity, and inclusion across all community stakeholder engagement activities.
- We demand diversity, equity, and inclusion in the recruitment of clinical trial participants who accurately reflect the epidemic.
